Organ pipes of different lengths are available to show how sound may be generated in a resonant cavity. One may also show that the pitch of tones generated depends on whether the pipe end is closed or open. Compressed air is available in the lecture halls to drive the pipes.

19, more in 16 drawer

PIRA DCS 3D32.25