When vacuum is applied to the volume enclosed by a pair of hemispheres they cannot be pulled apart. A valve on one of the hemispheres may be used so that the pump can be disconnected without disturbing the vacuum inside the apparatus.