Electron Diffraction

A commercial apparatus directs an electron beam at a polycrystalline graphite target. The resulting diffraction pattern is visible on a phosphor screen. The energy of the incident electrons may be varied to show how the diffraction pattern changes with energy.

from labs
PIRA DCS 7A60.10