A glass aquarium is filled with sulfur hexafluoride gas. When a simple box-shaped boat made of aluminum foil is dropped into the aquarium it floats on top of the gas. One may scoop the invisible gas out of the aquarium and into the boat to make it sink.