Instructor Consent to Add Courses

When courses have been deemed "Consent Only," students may email faculty directly requesting permission to register for the course. In these cases, instructors can either a) sign the student's registration card or b) email the student indicating that she has permission to join the course. Similar procedures are in place for students wishing to add a course during the Add/Drop period (lasting the first three weeks of quarter). Adding a course during the Add/Drop period always requires permission from the instructor.

Occasionally, instructors may wish for students to explain why they would like to join a course or why their background and research interests might make them suitable candidates for joining a course. If this is the case with your course, contact the Department Coordinator who will include this information in the Time Schedules.
