Barkhausen Effect

A magnetic field is gradually introduced to a piece ferromagnetic material inside a coil. The growth of magnetic domains inside the ferromagnet induces a signal in the coil which can be heard using an amplifier and speaker.