Two conducting plates are partially submerged in a dielectric fluid. When a large potential difference is applied to the plates the dielectric rises between them. A Wimshurst machine is used to charge the plates. A video camera is used to project a close-up view for the class.

7, 9, video camera

PIRA DCS 5C20.20